There are occasions where it would be very efficient to use a "Send To" facility on a computer.

When wanting to load pictures into Lightroom Classic it can be quite tedious to have to go through the File > Import Files and Video then trawl through a whole directory structure to find an individual picture or a folder containing pictures.

The following procedure will allow the creation of a "Send To" service in Mac OS. What this means is that when this service is created, it is possible to select an image file or a folder of images and send them directly to, in this case, Lightroom Classic.

The Automator.app is used to create this service.

Locate this app in the Applications folder, load it and in the window that appears click on "New Document", this window will appear:

Click on the "Quick Action" icon, then click Choose.

This window will appear:
